CHAUTAUQUA SEASON OPENS UNDER VERY FAVORABLE CIRCUMSTANCES

Guarantors Hopeful That All Expenses Will Be Taken Care Of

SPLENDID SALE SEASON TICKETS

Charleroi's Chautauqua season opened Tuesday afternoon very auspiciously, even if the weather was somewhat threatening, and even if the first session had to be held in the High School auditorium. The late arrival of the tent made this necessary, but by the time the hour had arrived for the evening session the big cover had been erected at The Pines, where all the remaining features will be presented.

The afternoon session was well attended and the opening program was very pleasing. Guy Moffitt, Esq., on behalf of the guarantors, presented Mr. James Hoffman Batten, of Prescott, Ariz., who is the local superintendent and who will have charge during the week. Mr. Hoffman did not make a very long introductory talk, but very briefly introduced the Ionians a quartet of young ladies, who gave a very interesting program of musical numbers and a reading.

In the evening Mr. Batten delivered his popular lecture, "The Spirit of Democracy," in which Abraham Lincoln and his life was taken as the theme of a very interesting and inspiring address. The remainder of the evening was taken up by the Ionians with their musical program, in which the young ladies gave a most interesting performance on the accordions. The audience at the evening session was much larger than in the afternoon and beginning with tomorrow afternoon it is expected the capacity of the tent will be asked to its utmost. Today the Warwick Male Quartette and John Howard Dickson will give the program, Mr. Dickson speaking this afternoon on "Sixty Minutes in a Flying Machine," and this evening on "The Young Man in Demand."

The guarantors have about completed their ticket selling campaign the contest between the young ladies ending Tuesday evening at 5:30. Miss Bradley led with 124 sold, Miss Orange second with 115, Miss Bosson third with 85, Miss Heuple fourth with 58, Miss Shippe fifth with 32, Miss Murray sixth with 28 and Miss Barth seventh with 26 sold. The guarantors expect to sell quite a number of additional season tickets, as it will be necessary to do so in order to make them clear of the expense to which they have been put in arranging for the Chautauqua. They will have the seating, advertising, ground rent, all drayage as well as the borough license and other expense to look after, and funds to take care of these bills must come from the sale of tickets. They believe, however, that sufficient revenue will be available to meet all the outlay.

DAYLIGHT SAVING WILL BE REPEALED

Conferences of the House and Senate at Washington on Monday approved a rider on the agricultural bill providing for repeal of the daylight saving law next October 26th. The House provision had provided for the immediate repeal of the bill, but the Senate made the repeal effective on the 1st Sunday in October. The provision of the Senate was accepted, and the present year will see the passing of the daylight saving act, which was passed as a war measure.

POLICE LOOKING FOR A "FAKE" DOCTOR

Charleroi police are looking for a well dressed and apparently prosperous Italian, who spent two weeks in Charleroi, posing as a physician, and who is wanted on the charge of securing money under false pretense.

This man goes under the name of "Dr." Caroni and "Dr." Marquetti, and from what has been learned of his methods, poses as a healer of tuberculosis. He came to Charleroi on the 10th of June, with his wife and two children and established himself at the Hotel Wellington. Well dressed and nice appearing he apparently had no trouble in securing the confidence of people of his own nationality. From what has since been learned he evidently told them of his ability to cure tubercular trouble, and said that as soon as a "machine" he was expecting from Philadelphia arrived he would be ready for business. In the meantime he was securing patients upon whom to test his marvelous discovery, which was to restore them to health.

That some of our people believed the story told by this fakir is found in the fact that one Italian citizen who had two of his children at Cresson brought them home with the expectation of having them placed under the care of "Dr." Caroni. This man also gave the doctor $200 in cash as an advance fee, while it is learned that he secured $115 from another.

Tuesday morning, however, the "Dr." evidently became suspicious, and left town, his wife and two children following at a later hour in a Saxon car which they evidently owned and bearing an Ohio license No. 138,396.

When the police learned the circumstances they immediately sent word to all surrounding towns to arrest the party and hold them until officers could arrive and return with them to Charleroi. Up until this morning however, no word had been received of the apprehension of the much-wanted "Doctor."

Do you believe in good, clean, wholesome entertainment? Then back up your belief by seeing "The Littlest Scout" at Majestic theatre Thursday.

Fuel Needs Appear To Be Growing Much Stronger

With the government urging people to "buy coal now," the semi-annual debate between coke operators and furnace buyers is assuming more than usual importance. The two interests are wide apart on the main features of the question at issue, which is the supply of coke for the last half of the year, and contracts for which are usually signed in June. So far as known no contracts have been finally executed, although it is reported that at least two large concerns have covered their needs, with figures a round $439 per ton.

Operators have confidence that more normal business is in sight, and are not in a hurry to sign contracts, particularly when the market is so strongly in favor of the producers. It is believed the market will grow even stronger in favor of the coke maker, and at present the operators appear more inclined to deliver on monthly basis.

They feel that conditions are such that a six months contract would not work out entirely to their satisfaction. Most shipments for July call for $4.25, at ovens, with $4.50 asked for the third quarter.

There appears to be a feeling that conditions in the coke and coal market will assume a normal tone before long and that many mines now idle will again be in operation. As it is, there seems to be a stronger demand for fuel than for the past several months, which will be even better than the fall months come. The signing of the armistice last November caused many contracts to be terminated very abruptly and in many cases operators have not been able to secure sufficient business to keep their mines going. While the smaller operator will not likely have the same opportunities as were presented a year ago, yet he is apt to get a share of the trade which will come with a return to more normal conditions.

ELKS WILL HOLD OUTING AT ELDORA

The Monongahela Lodge of Elks will hold their annual picnic at Eldora park, Thursday afternoon and evening and have extended a generous invitation to brother fraters to join with them in this celebration. The various committees in charge have been working for some time on the program and will have some very interesting features to present to their guests. In case of unfavorable weather the pavilions will give sufficient protection to all who may be in attendance. The committees have arranged to take care of at least fifteen hundred guests, and the occasion is expected to mark one of the high spots in the history of the Monongahela Elks. The picnic will open at one o'clock and the afternoon will be devoted to various sports and athletic events, which will undoubtedly be of the greatest interest. The refreshment committee will have plenty to take care of all demands, having provided on a liberal scale, so that the wants of every guest may be satisfied.

ABEL—WALTZ NUPTIALS PERFORMED AT ALLENPORT

Tuesday afternoon at 12:30 the wedding of Miss Neva Waltz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Waltz, of Allenport to Dewey Abel of Charleroi, took place at the home of the bride. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Pershing of Greensburg, in the presence of a few friends and relatives. The bride was attended by Misses Hannah Hamilton and Mabel Johns of Dunlevy and the groom by Thomas McKee and Ernest Howard of Dunlevy. Early in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Abel left on a short wedding trip.

WANTED—I want to rent a house in Charleroi, four, five or six rooms. If you have one, or know of one, notify 27 Mail office.

2-CENT POSTAGE ON JULY FIRST

On the first of July, the day that is expected to mark the passing of the United States will revert to two cents for each ounce of the first class matter or fraction thereof. The war-time rates provided for a 3-cent postage for letters and 2 cents for postal cards. Those having 3-cent stamped envelopes or 3-cent postal cards on hand can have them redeemed during July at their full value in stamps, stamped envelopes or postal cards, as they may wish. After July 30 the redemption of stamped envelopes will be made only at the stamp value and postal cards at 75 per cent of their value.

SAVING SOIL FOR GARDEN PURPOSES

The American Steel and Wire company, which recently made extensive real estate purchases in Carroll township, just below Donora, is having the top soil removed from a portion of the old McIlvain farm and hauled by trucks to the new concrete houses which were recently constructed by the company and located in the southern part of Donora borough. A steam shovel has been at work on this removal for several days, and quite a large amount of the soil has already been transferred to the new location, where it is being used as a fill and as a top dressing for gardens and yards.

TO LAUNCH FIRST BARGE FOR USE ON INLAND WATERWAYS

BIRTHDAY PARTY HELD FOR MARGARET RUSSELL

Mr. and Mrs. James Russell entertained at a birthday party Monday afternoon in honor of their youngest daughter Margaret. Dancing, games and music were diversions of the afternoon. Lunch was served by Mrs. Russell, assisted by Mrs. Jacob Wise, after which the youngsters enjoyed a theatre party at the Majestic. The honor guest was the recipient of many beautiful gifts.

WILL ENTERTAIN WAR VETERANS

Controller T. J. Underwood will be host on Friday afternoon at the annual reunion and outing for the old soldiers of Washington county. Heretofore this affair has been held at Washington park, but this year the gathering will take place at the Masonic hall in Washington, where ample provisions can be made for all who attend. The hour is to be 3 o'clock. All the plans for the meeting have been completed.

Lieutenant Colonel Martin of Waynesburg, who was in command of the 110th Infantry during its active service in France, has been secured as the principal speaker for the afternoon.

Every civil war veteran in the county is invited to be present, whether he wears the blue or the gray. An effort has been made to invite all but if they have been missed, the invitation to them is just as cordial.

BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL EXERCISES

In accordance with Children's Day a unique program was rendered by the Sunday school of the First Baptist church Sunday evening last. A service arranged by Major Robert F. V. Pierce, D. D., entitled "Garlands of Peace," was carried out in such a manner that evoked the keenest interest on the part of the audience. The stage setting was all that could be desired. The children from the youngest to the oldest performed their parts admirably. The tableaux at the close. "Within the Folds of the Flag," was a fitting climax to the occasion. The missionary offering of the Sunday school was the largest in its history.

Government Preparing To Handle Freight By Barge Loads

WILL RESTORE TRAFFIC TO RIVER

Ceremonies of more than usual interest will attend the launching at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, at the boat yard of the American Bridge Company, Ambridge, of the first barge in the large fleet the United States Railroad Administration is having constructed for use on the Mississippi river. The launching will take place in the presence of representatives of the government, the naval architects, the United States engineers and officials of the American Bridge Company.

The launching of this barge will mark the first step toward making the Mississippi river an inland waterway to take care of the bulk of the traffic of the great middle west. Efforts have been made in the past to take care of a great portion of this trade, and barge lines have been in commission in years gone by which endeavored to fill this important mission. Destructive competition, however, on the part of the railroads, drove the boats and barges out of the business and the river was to a great extent abandoned for this purpose.

The railroad administration, determined to bring back some of this trade to the rivers and last winter awarded a contract for six steamboats and 40 barges for use between St. Louis and New Orleans. The American Bridge Company is building the barges, each of which will be 200 feet long, 45 feet wide, and 11 feet deep, with a cargo house 184 feet long by 37 feet wide and 9 feet high. They are of steel throughout and all classes of freight may be carried on them. Provisions are made for quick handling of cargoes, and the venture is expected to meet with great success.

JUDGES' SALARIES ARE INCREASED

The House at Harrisburg on Tuesday concurred in the Senate amendment to the Alexander bill increasing the salaries of judges throughout the state. The amendment was concurred in by a vote of 133 to 57. By the provisions of the bill the salaries of the judges of Washington county are increased from $8,000 to $10,000 and the salary of the judge in Greene county from $6,000 to $7,000.

Under the provisions of the same act the salary of the Chief Justice of Pennsylvania is increased to $15,000 a year and the salaries of the associate justices $14,000. The salary of the president judge of the Superior Court is increased to $13,500 and the associates $12,000.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE AGAIN

If we recur again and again to the menace to the Monroe Doctrine which is presented in the Covenant of the League of Nations, it is because of the supreme importance of that Doctrine to the tranquility and general welfare of this nation, and because also of the peculiarly insidious and mischievous character of the attack which is made upon it in that Covenant.

Never before has there been an attempt to describe, define, or interpret the Doctrine in any treaty or other international instrument. We cannot recall that hitherto any foreign Power has shown an inclination so to do. Now, for the first time in history, it is proposed specifically to define it, in an international treaty of the highest importance, to which we are expected to be a signatory party.

If the definition thus proposed was truthful, there might be no harm in it, though even then, thus to define it in such an instrument would be superfluous and impertinent, because purely national matters have no proper place in international treaties. But the definition proposed is not truthful. It is so entirely and ingeniously false, and the potential results of its acceptance by this country would be so unacceptably pernicious, that it is only by the exercise of an exceptional degree of restraint and charity that we can attribute its origin merely to ignorance and not to malice.

So long as the Doctrine remains in its present status, so long as it is as Great Britain and Germany have so often said—not international, but merely an American doctrine or policy—we are the sole interpreters of it, and no foreign Power can attack it without being regarded as manifesting an unfriendly disposition toward us—Harvey's Weekly.

ECONOMIC BEDLAM

In the first four months of this year the railroads, under government control and operation, hauled freight 2,258,000,000 fewer ton miles than in the same period before the Government took over the roads. Yet that greatly diminished volume of business cost the roads in operating expense $611,707,000 more than the larger volume before government control and it cost the shipping public an increased freight rates $447,950,000 more. Since the taxpayers of the nation must make good the deficit in railroad accounts, these two sums added together make a total of $1,059,747,000 as the cost to the public in four months of government control and operation of the railroads; or $3,179,241,000 a year. What was it that Ben Franklin said about paying too much for a whistle? A little while ago it was reported, as we observed, that there had been an increase in business in April, yet a decrease in profits. So it appears that, under government control and operation, when business decreases expenses increase, and when business increases, profits decrease. If that is not economic bedlam, we lose our guess—Harvey's Weekly.

Automobile drivers will be glad to learn that the road leading from Charlottesville to Eshelbyville is to be paved to the bone line of the latter town. It means the permanent improvement of one of the most important highways in the county, as it is one of three lines reaching from the river to the county seat. Money spent on the permanent improvement of roads is money well spent.

For the railroads must be improved. Let us hope that the Senator King, Democrat, who is in the Senate this year, that he understood there were 141,000 more employees in the railroad administration than there was a year or 12 months ago. If this be the case it is apparent where a large part of the deficiency is going.

Storms Carry Birds to Far North
Certain instances of birds found as far to the north of their range are possibly to be explained by the whirl of our cyclonic storms. The birds, turning counter clockwise, blow off shore in the south and carry the birds out to sea. But sooner or later if the bird has the good fortune to last out the storm tends to bring him ashore again.

Interesting Text Books.
A school in Italy uses stamp albums to teach geography and history. Each student has his own collection, while the school owns a larger and more complete one. The boys and girls are a great deal more devoted to their studies with such novel text books to attract and interest them than they would be with most common plain blue ones.

Arabian Hides Grade Well.
Arabian skins coming into the world markets through Persia and the Sudan originate exclusively in Jeddah and places in the vicinity of Mecca. They embrace the hides of sheep, goats, camels and camel hinds, and are generally dry salted. Arabian hides are limited in quantity; the quality, however, is excellent.

THE REAL VALUE OF BITUMINOUS COAL

George H. Cushing, managing director of the Wholesale Coal Association, in an address at the annual banquet of the association in Cleveland a short time ago presented an unique illustration of the value the product. He said in part:

"When I started from Washington for Cleveland I had no money, but I had some coal. So I arranged to pay my way in coal instead of cash, with the following results:

"The taxicab driver hauled me a mile to the station and gave him 500 pounds of anthracite pea coal. For a ticket to Cleveland I gave the agent 6,448 pounds of anthracite white ash egg coal. To the porter who carried my bag to the car I gave 115 pounds of anthracite pea coal. To the Pullman conductor for a berth to Cleveland, I gave 10,000 pounds of Lykens' valley stove coal. When I went into the dining car, in exchange for a table d'hôte dinner, I gave the steward 1,000 pounds of Bioga county, (Pa.) lump. The waiter took me kindly when I handed him 150 pounds of Somerset county run or mine.

The most interesting part of my better experience was the next morning when I went into breakfast. In exchange for five prunes I gave 350 pounds of Pocahontas mine run; for two poached eggs I gave 400 pounds of New River mine run. For two pieces of toast upon which to rest the poached eggs I gave 230 pounds of Turg river slack. For one cup of coffee I gave 135 pounds of Fairmont 3-4 in. lump. When I got off the train I handed the porter a tip of 250 pounds of thick vein Hooking mine run. Wanting to know the latest developments about the league of nations I gave a newsboy 18 pounds of thin vein Hooking mine run for a morning paper. To the driver of the taxi for driving me to the hotel I gave 200 pounds of Massillon lump. For a

DADDY GROBECKER'S SWISS YODLERS.

The only genuine Swiss yodler company on the American platform today, presenting to the American public a program of true Swiss mountain folklore, full of educational as well as entertaining features. The Columbus (Ohio) Journal, in speaking of their entertainment, says: "It was thoroughly unique and altogether delightful. Dressed in the picturesque native costume they constitute an atmosphere that is like a real breath from the mountains. There must be something in that air that must be a vocal development of a high order, for these Alpine singers are all with magnificent voices."

Throughout a delightful program, which was entirely out of the ordinary channel of entertainment, and in which there was not a moment of monotony or dullness, a large audience was kept thoroughly amused and entertained. They all sang and warbled and echo their national songs with a beautiful enjoyment and zest.

Daddy's Yodlers will appear in the afternoon and evening of the fifth day.

room at the hotel for one day I gave the clerk 2,500 pounds Solway egg coke. To the bellboy who carried my bag and key to the room I gave 50 pounds of Pomeroy mine run. To the barber who shaved me I gave 275 pounds of Eastern Ohio slack. For having my shoes shined I had to surrender 150 pounds of Jackson Hill lump and handed the waiter as a tip 150 pounds of the same coal. For a package of cigars I gave 250 pounds of Eastern Kentucky mine run. And, desiring to do the right thing by a thirsty friend I persuaded the barkeep to give him a Bourbon whiskey. In return for 265 pounds of Jelico lump. For the ticket to this banquet I gave the hotel 3,000 pounds of Youngbushy mine run. In a word, to get to this banquet I had to give away 18,400 pounds of various kinds of coal, or about 9.2 tons.

"This curious assortment is what the operators, under Garfield prices, had to surrender to get $32.22. If I had not been so foolish as to give away my raw coal so cheaply, but if instead I had first subjected it to a disillation process, I could have paid all my bills with about 1,200 pounds of coal and could have put in my pocket to spend in Cleveland stores the sum of $428. That is, by extracting only 11 easily obtained products I could have made each ton of coal worth $50. Therefore for the 9.2 tons I would have received $460. My expenses were $32. The profit to me would have been $428.

"In a word I was as blind and as foolish as is the typical coal man who insists upon selling raw coal and upon complaining that he and his industry are poor. If instead of wasting our efforts on tears, lamentations and regrets, we spent some of it upon splitting coal up into its valuable products the cash balance of the industry would be different. To be specific, from 10 tons of Fairmont slack I could easily have obtained 13,000 pounds of coke, 1,000 pounds of breeze, 100,000 cubic feet of gas, 230 pounds of sulphate of ammonia, 140 pounds of sulphuric acid, 20 gallons of benzol, 40 pounds of toluol, 18 pounds of Prussian blue, 2 pounds of carbolic acid and 240 pounds of fuel oil."

Columbus Can Well Accommodate All Who Attend Methodist Celebration Officials Say

NO CROWD which has been proposed for the Methodist Centenary Celebration will swamp Columbus according to Mayor George J. Karb who has received some inquiries from distant points regarding the ability of the Capital City to take care of the hundreds of thousands of Methodists coming from all over the United States for the Centenary Celebration, June 20 to July 12.

Mayor Karb says: "Columbus has always been equal to any situation. We are not going to fail the exposition crowds no matter how many thousand there are. Tell them to come to Columbus town. We are ready with open hearts and open doors. Columbus can do it."

James T. Daniels, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, says: "We can easily and satisfactorily accommodate three hundred thousand visitors. Organizing Secretary H. B. Dickson says: "Three hundred thousand my minimum estimate of attendance. Confident Columbus can take care of twice that number."

SEE GOD'S HAND IN RESCUE

Natives of Rimatara Ascribe Their Escape From Death to Miraculous Interposition.

"Saved by the hand of God," is the way the nine natives composing the crew of the 50-ton schooner Oromana characterize their escape from death, after having drifted helplessly 50 days on one of the loneliest bits of ocean in the seven seas.

When the wreck of the Oromana was towed into Papeete harbor, Tahiti, one of the most remarkable voyages known in these waters was completed. The vessel, a two-masted schooner, owned by natives of Rimatara, an island about 300 miles southwest of Tahiti, left her home port, without cargo, bound for the island of Rurutu, in the same group, where she was to undergo repairs and take cargo of copra for Tahiti.

Two days out, she was struck by a storm, which carried away both her masts and later her rudder, leaving her a helpless derelict.

With never a glimpse of land or sail to give a ray of hope, the Oromana drifted for 50 days. After 15 days the supply of food was gone. The natives managed to catch a shark with hook and line. That was their last food. The rest of the time they had no food. An occasional sea overboarded death from their midst.

That the "miracle" happened. The mountains of Tahiti rose slowly over the horizon. The shifting sea currents brought them nearer and nearer until they were finally sighted on shore and a powerboat sent to tow them in. They were too weak to rise a shore feet, but after a few days ashore all appeared to be rapidly recovering from their experience.

The natives set the hand of God guided their craft, for the prevailing winds in these latitudes are from the northwest, a direction which would never have brought them to Tahiti.

Make Best Use of Time.

Every man has the same chance in the use of time. One may be faster than another but there are usually compensating conditions that equalize things. Not always to the swift is the race. Many a tortoise has beaten hares in life. It's the use of the hours that counts. Make the minutes bunt with well directed industry and you have a profitable life in the making. It's every man's right to make the most of himself. He does this by his use of the minutes.

Collection of Indian Curios at the Methodist Centenary Celebration

WHAT has been pronounced the greatest private collection of Indian curios in America has been loaned to the Methodist Centenary Celebration at Columbus, O., by H. W. Palm, an Indian trader of Ortonville, Minnesota. Mr. Palm is here shown with some of his interesting relics.

Indian exhibitions will have a considerable place in the celebration. Pueblos will unconcernedly mold pottery before throngs of curious spectators just as their grandfathers did before the white man invaded their lands. Navajos will weave rugs and St. Regis make baskets—all actually living in their native homes, be they pueblos or wigwams.

NO SEATS RESERVED

First Come First Served, at Coliseum at Methodist Centenary

At a conference of Director General S. Earl Taylor, Dr. Fred B. Fisher, H. B. Dickson and other members of the Centenary Exposition staff, it was decided that there will be no seats reserved in the Coliseum for "The Warfarer" pageant presentations at the Methodist Centenary Celebration, Columbus, O., June 20-July 13.

All seats will be available to spectators as soon as the doors of the Coliseum are opened each evening. "It will be a case of 'first come first served,'" says Mr. Dickson. Season tickets to the exposition grounds admit the bearer once to the pageant in the Coliseum. Single admission fees at the gate require an additional fifty cents for the Coliseum entrance.

Silkworm of the Sea.

Many worms live in the sea, and some of them are very beautiful creatures. But the so-called "silkworm of the sea"—the designation being purely figurative and poetical—is a bivalve mollusc, properly known as the pinnu-la and native to the Mediterranean. It spins a silk so beautiful that in ancient days the fiber was reserved exclusively for the weaving of royal garments. This silk is spun by the mollusc to furnish an anchor line by which it fastens itself to a convenient rock. It is extremely fine and very strong. Cleaned, dried and passed through combs, it is reduced to delicate threads of a lustrous brownishyellow hue, which are woven into gloves, stockings and other articles.

The French "Tiger" certainly chewed up the Germans in that message he sent them along with the amended peace treaty.

CHILD GIVEN INTO CUSTODY OF FATHER

Lenora Pringle, daughter of Charles Pringle, of Fredericktown, on Monday, after a partial hearing in the habeas corpus proceedings instituted by Pringle against Alex and Elizabeth Ferguson, his father-in-law and mother-in-law, was taken from her maternal grandparents and given into the custody of the father. He is to place the child in the possession of her paternal grandmother. The mother is dead.

The court ruled that if the father was willing to support the child that he had the right to say where the child should live. In securing possession of the child the father must pay to the maternal grandparents the sum of $300, which they paid out for funeral expenses, for Mrs. Pringle, who was their daughter and for other expenses incurred during her sickness and death and for the care of the child since it has made its home with them.
Pringle agreed to pay the sum in monthly installments of $50 each.
The court advised him to quit drinking.

Lockview this week.

TO RESTORE WIRES TO PRIVATE CONTROL

It is likely that the government control of telegraph, telephone and other wires will cease at midnight of July 31. An agreement has been reached by the conferees of the Senate and House at Washington, and the bill they have agreed upon will in all probability be passed some time early in July and with the President's signature will become a law.
Toll and local exchange telephone rates would be continued four months unless sooner changed by state commissions.

WILL OPPOSE ANY INCREASE IN FARES

Pittsburg authorities are preparing to fight the proposed raise in fares which the receivers of the Pittsburg Railways company has announced as being effective on the first day of August next. Counsel for the city of Pittsburg have promised a protest just as soon as the schedule of the receivers announcing the increase are filed with the Public Service Commission at Harrisburg.

Charleroi friends have been advised of the death of Mrs. Charles Ashton, Jr., at her home in Detroit, Mich., on Monday last. Mrs. Ashton will be remembered as Miss May Hep-ler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A.
Hepler, who were residents of Charleroi for many years.

Don M. Allen, who served throughout the war as a member of Company F, Twenty-third Engineers, arrived home Sunday night, having been discharged from the service at Camp Dix. He served overseas for fifteen months, and saw some very arduous duty while in France. Prior to entering the army Mr. Allen was connected with the Donora Construction Company.

RIGHTS AS "FREE CITIZEN"

Russian Workman Who Believed He Owned a Part of the Street Car Track.

While walking along the Nevsky Prospect in Petrograd one morning we saw a line of street cars that had evidently been blocked; in front of the foremost car was a crowd of people, says a writer in Russia. As we entered the crowd we saw a man standing on the track and arguing with the motorman. The motorman was pleading with him to get off the track so that he could proceed with his car, and the man was maintaining that Russia was a free country, that he had just as much right on the track as the car had, and that he did not intend to move until he was personally inclined to do so.

A number of soldiers looked on, but no one attempted to remove the man from the track, and neither the motorman nor the conductor attempted to move the car, but resorted solely to moral suasion. The argument that finally induced the man to move was to the effect that the motorman was a hard-working man and had to get to the car barn; the longer he was held there the longer it would take him to get through his work, and would not his brother workman please get off the track so that he could get the car to the barn? With that the "free citizen" politely bowed, folded his arms and moved off the track, the crowd dispersed and the cars went on their way.

SILLY TO HIDE ADMIRATION

Writer Makes Point When He Explores What He Asserts Is Linguistic Camouflage.

"The only criticism I would make of you is that your heart is so big it sometimes overrules your judgment." This is a remark that is often heard. What does it mean? As a rule, it is not intended as a criticism at all, but rather as a compliment. Why not, then, have done with linguistic camouflage? Why hide our admiration for a friend under a doubtful phrase that might leave a sting? Since at heart we are all sentimental, and since we consider a good heart of more real value than the head, both to its possessor and to his friends, why not say so plainly? How delicate we are, after all! Or is it that most of us have been dishonest so long that even in our happiest conversations we unconsciously resort to diplomatic expressions?—Los Angeles Times.

War's Influence on Music.

Have you noticed what a "speeding up" of music has come out of this war? There has been so much music in it. When the famous retreat from Mons was made, one set of soldiers was kept awake and moving one night by the music of a little toy life and child's drum, which the commander of it bought in a kind of desperation in a shop shortly before. The music acted like a charm on the men, who began to move more quickly and more easily as soon as they heard it. A battalion marching without singing is unusual in this war, unless secrecy of movement is called for. "There's a Long, Long Trail" is a favorite song, but dear old "Tipperary" is not sung much now. Little French boys sing it well, though, and sing it a great deal. "Mother Machree" is sung still, because it has so much of the old home feeling in it. Whenever a wounded soldier in the hospital says he wants to hear a phonograph, it is taken to mean that he is getting better. And the very sick soldiers, when they hear sweet music played in their wards in hospitals, are soothed and calmed by it.—Exchange.

Apple Crop Is Larger.

The United States commercial apple crop for 1918 will exceed the 1917 production by approximately 9 per cent, according to the November forecast by the bureau of crop estimates, United States department of agriculture. Production for this year is now estimated at 25,008,000 barrels, with 22,519,000 barrels in 1917. Attention is called to the fact that the barreled and bulk apple production is estimated at a 31 per cent increase over last year, while the 1918 boxed apple crop will fall short of last year's production by 22 per cent. However, the latter deficiency is more than offset by the increase in the Eastern states.

They were only four sacks, washed and pieced together by patient fingers and then fashioned into undergarments. Around the neck of each was a crocheted edge made from the string with which the sacks had been sewed. A poorly dressed woman brought them into the department of refugee clothing of the Red Cross as her "widow's mite."

"It isn't much," she said, as she unfolded the bundle, "but it is all I had, and I hope it will be of use to some Belgian woman who may have less than I have."

Artificial Rubber.

Artificial rubber has been made in an experimental way for many years, but it is now reported that it has become a practical success, and that the great dye and color works at Elberfeld, Germany, are erecting a large factory for the production of synthetic rubber on a large scale, principally intended to supply Germany with this product in future years, when great difficulties are anticipated in obtaining natural rubber. Like other raw materials, from the tropics.

TOUCHED MEN IN RIGHT SPOT

Y. M. C. A. Camp Secretary Knew the Feeling of Soldiers Gathered to Subdue Bloodthirsty Hun.

War's changes are being shown in greater degree in the Y. M. C. A. activity, remarks the New York Sun. The posthumous official has passed. In his place is the athletic director and entertainer, of red blood. No better example of the metamorphosis could have been had than in an incident not long ago at Camp Mills, the great Long Island concentration camp where the men were equipped just before sailing.

One of the old-style officials was holding a meeting and was expatiating at length on the care the men should take of their souls. His audience, already partly homesick after months of training, was restless and grew glummer and glummer.

The camp secretary watched with dismay the effect the speaker was having on the soldiers about to sail. The climax came when the person, after a final appeal to the men to face death bravely, said:

"We will now sing 'Ring the Bells of Heaven.'"

That was too much for the local camp man and he jumped to his feet, holding up his hand to the man at the piano to stop. Then he shouted:

"Boys, before we sing this 'Ring the Bells of Heaven' don't let us forget that first we must 'Wring the Kaiser's damned neck.'"

The shout that went up broke up the abashed parson's meeting and "Ring the Bells of Heaven" was indefinitely postponed.

MODEL ON AMERICAN CLUBS

France Considering Adoption of Our Methods of Teaching Farming to Boys and Girls.

France is considering the adoption of Uncle Sam's methods of teaching better farming and home making to boys and girls. Representatives from the French high commission, lately in this country, made a point of studying carefully the methods of the federal department of agriculture and the state agricultural colleges in conducting boys' and girls' clubs. Much of the information thus collected has been widely reprinted by the French press, accompanied by editorial comment expressing the view that, the man or woman power of France having been depleted or disorganized by war service, France for some time, to come, will be dependent in large part upon its younger population for its food supply and suggesting the formation in France of a nation-wide system of boys' and girls' clubs patterned on those in America. It is expected that these clubs will grow staple products—garden produce, wool, farm grain and forage crops, poultry and farm animals on farms not devastated, the very soil of which must first of all be put in condition. They will stimulate production by the young people of France through organized contests not only in farming, but in home enterprises such as bread making, garment making, cooking and home management.

Ventilation.

The mayor of Terre Haute the other day appointed a number of the city schoolma'ams to do special police duty, such as to seeing to the ventilating of stores, etc., says the Indianapolis News. Miss Margaret Kilroy, a high school teacher, being one of those appointed, visited a number of stores. In one the manager became indignant as she explained the necessity of his doing more ventilation. "Why, it's very warm here," she complained, unbuttoning her coat and revealing a georgette crepe waist.

"Ventilating doesn't have anything to do with it," protested the man. "Why, 99 per cent of the cases of flu in this country have been caused by the wearing of georgette crepe waists."

He was actually ready to smile when, back came Miss Kilroy's cool rejoinder: "I suppose that explains the great number of cases in the United States army, then."

Record Telephone Service.

The largest private telephone branch in the world is the one which serves the expanding needs of the war department. On July 1 this branch served 3,178 extensions; on August 1, 3,626. It requires 128 trunk lines for incoming calls; 76 for outgoing calls, local and submarine toll; 17 private toll lines to New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, via Cleveland, Hoboken and Newport News, and 105 tie lines to other government stations in Washington.

The bureau of fisheries reports that 20,000,000 sockers and 1,365,000 humpback salmon eggs had been obtained at the station at Yes Bay, Alaska, from August 29, when collections began, to September 30. If the collections are sufficiently large 1,000,000 humpback eggs will be sent to the Maine stations for the continuation of the acclimatization experiments undertaken several years ago. Later in the year it is hoped to send a second consignment.

Idea for Liberty Monument.

A Washington man proposes that as the United States was in the war 584 days, a Liberty monument to the members of our heroes be erected at the capital, one foot in height for each day, making it 584 feet high, with the names of all who gave their lives engraved on bronze tablets, to be placed in the interior of the monument.

GENERAL MESROP NEVTON AZGAPETIAN

The General is an American citizen, but an Armenian by birth. He is a graduate of Robert's College, Constantinople; University of Geneva, Switzerland, and of Columbia University, New York. He served for many years in the Persian army and was aid de camp to the Shah, secretary of the Persian legation in Washington, and is a traveler, writer and linguist. He has but recently returned from Petrograd after two years of active service with the Russian army in the Caucasus.

In speaking of an address delivered in Hartford, Conn., the Daily Courant of October 13, 1918, says: "General Azgapetian was, at his best when he spoke of his service with the Russian army. He looked very much the soldier in his plum-colored tunic and blue breeches. His uniform was as striking as the face of the man himself. His decorations were bestowed upon him by the Shah of Persia. He wears the service stripes gained when serving with the Russian army. He told the story of the Russian army which was attacking the Turks. In speaking of Turkey, he said she was not averse to massacres. To kill was the only rule of the Government, when her subjects had any grievance—massacre them. The German military leaders detailed the plans of the Berlin gang to willing Turkish. The men of Armenia were gathered together in squads, herded together till they were killed by the thousands; shot, pushed into the water, starved, anyway to get rid of them. He estimated that the Turks had slain 2,500,000 because Berlin wanted it done."

The General understands perfectly the conditions existing in Russia and Armenia today, and will speak on the evening of the fifth day on "Russian Bolshevism and Its Relation to the American Problem."

A GREAT MESSAGE FROM A GREAT MILITARY LEADER.

The Order of the Bath.

A very youthful British tourist, arrived at an old-fashioned hostelry, had the imprudence to order a bath in his room for the next morning. Very early he was awakened by sounds of hammering somewhere overhead. Then followed much bumping on the stairs; evidently a large and cumbersome weight was being brought down. The noise ceased outside his own door, which flew open, and in staggered two strong men bearing the big bath from the public bathroom, dismounted for his morning ablutions!

Where the Wrinkles Are.

"Improving the bodice cap—little wrinkles that help to make it more becoming," says a headline. The wrinkles, as we understand the proposition, are in the cap, not on the wearer.—Kansas City Star.

Down to Brass Tacks.

This is a printer's slang phrase. When a compositor exhausts the type in his "case" and "gets down to brass tacks," it means that he is down to rock-bottom, or gone the limit.

THE IONIANS.

This quartet is made up of a group of ladies who play and sing and read. They feature the accordions and own perhaps the most beautiful set of accordions to be found in Chautauque work. Both solo and accordion quartets will have prominent places on their program. In addition to their work on the accordion they offer instrumental trios, consisting of violin, cello, piano; violin and cello solos, and readings. They also produce a little play entitled "Second Childhood," which has proved a well-merited hit. They combine genuine musicianship and artistry with the novelty of their accordion work.
